

Transnational Korean Studies Minor

Fall 2017 Course Offerings

Non-Language Korean Courses:

GPPS 408. Korean Security (formally IRGN 408) (4)

This course will consider major security issues on the Korean peninsula, including the evolution of the US-South Korea alliance and the management of the current nuclear crisis. A distinctive feature of the course will be a consideration of the political economy of recent developments on the peninsula, particularly with respect to North Korea, and an extended discussion of the logic and strategy of engagement. Renumbered from IRGN 408. Students may not receive credit for IRGN 408 and GPPS 408. 918231, TuTh 12:30p-1:50p, RBC 1428, Haggard, Stephan M.

Korea-Related Courses (petition required for all Korea-related courses):

COMM 113T. Intermediate Topics in Communication (4) : K Pop

This course offers an overview of Korea's contemporary global music industry, known also as K-Pop. We examine how Korean idols have been marketed to audiences across Asia and now the U.S., all while tracing the genre's visual and sonic origins to the sights and sounds of American pop songs that entered the country through the U.S. military bases that have been stationed throughout South Korea since the Korean War (1950-present).

911453, MW 5:00p-6:20p CENTR 222, Ahn, Patricia Jeehyun

Language Korean Courses: Please refer to the Schedule of Classes for section, day and time information. For the details about the placement test, please visit: <http://ucsdkoreanlanguage.blogspot.com/2011/08/placement-test.html>

LTKO 1A Beginning Korean: First Yr. I Lee, Jeyseon

LTKO 1A is designed to help students develop beginning-level (first quarter) skills in the Korean Language. The concentration is on the development of basic reading, writing, listening, and speaking skills and cultural understanding.

LTKO 2A Intermediate Korean: 2nd Yr I Lee, Jeyseon

LTKO 2A is designed to help students develop intermediate-level (first quarter) skills in the Korean Language. Upon completion, students are expected to have a good command of the language in various daily conversational and casual situations.

LTKO 3. Advanced Korean: Third Year Lee, Jeyseon

LTKO 3 is designed to help students develop advanced-level skills in the Korean language. Upon completion of this course, students are expected to have a good command of Korean in various formal settings, which includes understanding and reading daily news broadcasts/newspapers, and also writing social and informal business correspondence.

